Program Bureau to Appear At Disneyland on Program

DISNEYLAND has invited Brigham Young University Student Program Bureau to appear in a Saturday afternoon Christmas program, Dec. 3, it was announced Wednesday by W. Clon Skousen, public services director.

The Disneyland show will feature the 10-member student troupe touring California during the last week of November and first week of December. "Happy Holidays" theme of the troupe's show, is a whirlwind tour through holidays of the year ending on a Christmas finale.

ACCORDING to Skousen, the invitation to send a show to Disneyland came before the California tour was announced. The appearance was confirmed only this week.

The show will be presented on an outdoor stage set in the tops of the Disneyland Alps and lavishly decorated for a typical Walt Disney Christmas. Four microphones and an extensive sound system will broadcast the show to the large crowds normally spending Saturday at the fanciful storyland paradise. The BYU troupe will perform through Disneyland to the stage to advertise their show.

THE CAST will be guests of Disneyland for the day and will each be given free passes to all displays and activities, amounting to about $15 per person, according to the invitation letter.

Starting with a New Year's number featuring the full cast and an interpretation of "Happy Holiday" arranged by Crawford Gates, BYU music professors the show will send through Valentine's Day, Easter, Fourth of July, summer vacations, Thanksgiving, and Christmas.

ONE OF THE most unusual numbers is the table cleaning scene after the Thanksgiving dinner, according to Dr. Skousen. Heats Ribble, student from Switzerland, balances everything on the table and then the table on his chin.

Space Payments Due for Banyan

Payments for space in the Banyan are due Nov. 11 according to Keith Billings, space sales manager.

Late payments, Billings said might result in pictures being left out of the yearbook. Any persons who want to make special arrangements for payments are to contact Billings at FH 3-8180 or the Banyan office, basement, Student Service Center.

Billings also urged these organizations to contact him that desire a picture in the 1946 yearbook. They were named in a contract. Payments must equal one-half or more of the contracted space.

Quartet Plays Twice Thursday

AMADEUS Quartet, a group of four young English artists, will present two concerts Thursday morning and evening. The morning concert will be in the Lyceum and the evening performance in the Utah Auditorium at 8:15.

The four young men from London who make up the quartet call themselves "Artists Amadeus of Good Will." They are making their third concert in the Utah Auditorium as a result of the popular response to their quartet music.

THE QUARTET is composed of two violins, a viola and a cello. The group is well known through their recordings of major quartet works for both for English and American record companies. Following the quartet's appearance at the Edinburgh music festival, they were named the finest quartet in Britain.

Only one member of the quartet is a native born Englishman. The others are of Austrian descent. Hitler's Nazi regime drove their families to England. The group became friends when they were studying under Max Maltin in London. They played together as students in private whenever possible. In 1946 they began serious work together with the intention of forming a permanent quartet. Success was instantaneous and they immediately began making many concerts and broadcasts in England. MARTIN LOVETT is the cellist. Norbert Braun and Stephen Nisell, the violinists and Peter Schudlo, the violist.

They are close personal friends off stage as well as on. They take their summer vacations in pairs but there is no set rule for the way they pair off. If all four were to vacation together it would turn into a practice session with no time for relaxation.

It has been said of this group that "a few quartets have the solemnity of superb tone, sensitive style and maturity of insight shown at every point by this excellent group."
